

Creation Myth Make-Up Task

Because the essay policy in Ms. Kittelson's English class is that for every essay missed, you must write two essays of the same genre, you now must write two myths. The first is the creation myth that was already due (refer to the original instructions), and the second is a myth according to the following:

Write the story of your birth as though it were somehow miraculous and you were, and are, sublimely powerful. Basically write a fantastic story about the origin of you. Feel free to heighten traits you already possess or to assign to yourself traits you don't yet have but wish you did.

Follow typical narrative structure with set-up, rising action, climax and denouement. That means that you should put yourself in the path of obstacles and have one huge obstacle that you ultimately overcome using your unique abilities.

Just as the creation myth is to be at least 800 words, this additional essay is to be at least 800 words.

Both should be typed, in MLA format, and turned in no later than Friday, September 09, 2011 at the start of class. Remember, that if you need to use a school printer, you must use it no later than Thursday, September 8, 2011. You may not rely on a school printer the same day an essay is due.

Good luck, and have fun. Remember that writing affords you the opportunity to live a life you might not otherwise be able to live. It provides you with the freedom to be and do absolutely anything!

Creation Myth Make-Up Task

Because the essay policy in Ms. Kittelson's English class is that for every essay missed, you must write two essays of the same genre, you now must write two myths. The first is the creation myth that was already due (refer to the original instructions), and the second is a myth according to the following:

Write the story of your birth as though it were somehow miraculous and you were, and are, sublimely powerful. Basically write a fantastic story about the origin of you. Feel free to heighten traits you already possess or to assign to yourself traits you don't yet have but wish you did.

Follow typical narrative structure with set-up, rising action, climax and denouement. That means that you should put yourself in the path of obstacles and have one huge obstacle that you ultimately overcome using your unique abilities.

Just as the creation myth is to be at least 800 words, this additional essay is to be at least 800 words.

Both should be typed, in MLA format, and turned in no later than Friday, September 09, 2011 at the start of class. Remember, that if you need to use a school printer, you must use it no later than Thursday, September 8, 2011. You may not rely on a school printer the same day an essay is due.

Good luck, and have fun. Remember that writing affords you the opportunity to live a life you might not otherwise be able to live. It provides you with the freedom to be and do absolutely anything!